

Linguistics Info Session

Are you...

- good at logic and language puzzles?
- interested in how people say things, and not just what they say?
- curious about language and communication?

Maybe a Linguistics major or minor is for you!

Confused about where the Spanish and other language majors are at UCSD?
Want to study a language and its culture?

Maybe a Linguistics- Language Studies in Spanish (or French, or ASL, or ...) major or minor is for you!

Interested in how language affects our social environment and conversely in how society affects language?

Maybe a Linguistics- Language and Society major is for you.

Or maybe you are fascinated by the fact that young children learn languages so quickly, while adults have to work hard to acquire new languages. Or you are interested in developing computer models of language...

Maybe a Linguistics- Cognition and Language major is for you.

Come join us for snacks and a discussion about what the Linguistics department has to offer you from our 4 different majors and two minors.

Monday, October 26th, from 11am to 12pm
