Course Description and Objectives

GENERAL DESCRIPTION: 115 is designed for heritage speakers of Korean who wish to strengthen their speaking, reading and writing skills in Korean. The term heritage speaker is used within the foreign-language teaching field to refer to a person who was exposed to a language and perhaps speaks it to some degree, but is now mostly dominant in English. Knowledge of reading and writing is not required. This course can be repeated three times for credit. This is a content based course. The topics change each quarter, therefore you will learn new materials each time up to three times.

LIHL 115 is taught at the entry and more advanced level and is designed to improve students' command of the Korean language in the areas of reading, writing and conversation. Material is presented in the context of cultural, social and literary topics. The course will be taught in the standard Korean dialect spoken in Korea.

LEVEL OF THE CLASS: In order to offer a curriculum optimal for the students enrolled, the language level of the course could vary from quarter to quarter based on the language skills of the people in the class. For instance, the more advanced heritage speakers of Korean, the focus will be placed on learning formal and written forms rather than spoken or colloquial forms of the language. The entry level heritage students, the emphasis will be placed more on reading and speaking skills. In addition, the classes may be taught at two different levels if necessary.

Students who are considered native speakers of Korean are not accepted in this class; these classes are designed for heritage speakers and are not intended to serve as easy A courses for native speakers under any circumstances. If students are caught misrepresenting their knowledge of Korean or the level of class attended in Korea, they will be asked to leave the class and will either be dropped from the class roster or receive a failing grade in the course.

Course Materials

Materials are taken from various authentic sources such as Korean textbooks, newspapers, film and magazines. (Materials will be distributed in class)

Availability Outside the Classroom

I will hold regular office hours to answer any questions you might have. If you cannot make it to the regularly scheduled office hours, please contact me to set up an appointment (emails are the best). If you encounter difficulty with course material, please ask questions and see me for help.

Course grade breakdown for Culture and Communication section:

Active participation in small groups and in class discussion: 10%
 Execution of the written work and reading assignments: 10%
 Quizzes: 20%
 Midterm: 30%
 Final: 30%

Homework will be assigned, and late homework may be accepted under certain circumstances. If you know in advance that you will have to miss a class, please make appropriate arrangements with the instructor in advance as well; if you must miss class unexpectedly because of illness or other emergency, and then please notify the instructor as soon as possible via email. THERE WILL BE NO MAKE-UP EXAMS!

Class attendance and participation is an essential foundation for learning a language. Students are expected to come to class prepared and willing to participate in all classroom activities. Attendance will be taken regularly and students who are not present at the beginning of the class hour will be considered absent. If you have to absent class due to a valid reason, you must contact the instructor to get permission before taking absence. After you are back to school, you must provide a class absence form as well as relevant documents to the instructors. A maximum of 2 absences are allowed without affecting your grade. Each further absence will lower your final grade by one level. For example, one additional absence will lower a B+ to a B, or a C to a C-. If you miss a total of two weeks of class, you are encouraged to drop the class or you will fail the course. A tardy will be counted as a half absence.

Grading:

Your commitment and level of progress in the class determine your grade, not the level of your previous knowledge of Korean. Most students receive A's and B's in this class. Don't expect an easy A just because you speak Korean. If you do very good to excellent work, you will get an A. If you do good work, you will get a B. If you do mediocre work, do not be surprised if you get a C. Also, if you do not complete all the course requirements, do not be surprised if you get a D or an F, depending on how much you do not complete (I generally will allow you to make up for past omissions within a reasonable time frame if you ask me, but I will not chase after you to do so). And if you forget to drop the course, you will certainly get an F.

Grade justification requests will not be accepted after the quarter is over.

This section has been added to the syllabus to provide general answers to any questions you might have about how I grade. Please do not email me after the quarter is over to challenge your grade, or to request an explanation for why you got the grade you did or to do extra-credit work to raise your grade. If you have questions about your grade, please ask me DURING the quarter, at which time I will be more than happy to discuss it with you.

Statement of Academic Integrity:

Students are expected to do their own work, as outlined in the UCSD Policy on Academic Integrity published in the UCSD General Catalog. However, group projects and collaboration on homework are allowed and encouraged.

All the writing in your reports and essays must be your own work. You may not copy sentences or paragraphs from books, web pages, other students or any other source. If you quote anything written by anyone else, you must indicate very clearly that it is a quotation, and provide a full citation.

Cheating on exams will not be tolerated, and any student who engages in suspicious conduct will be confronted and subjected to the disciplinary process. Those who are caught cheating will receive a failing grade on the assignment or the exam and/or in the entire course.
